I am a local shopfront business owner, The Teaching HuB, former secondary teacher and passionate Mandurah resident of 12 years.

I am a proud father, husband, grandfather and always a learner. I am continually impressed by our city's ability to retain its village heart as more people make it their home. Our natural beauty and development has created a place for all. The heart of Mandurah is its residents. Councils exist to improve community both economically and socially. Rates and council income must be used wisely to provide amenity for a lifestyle suited to all age groups and their interests. I am aware of inequality in our community and I hold strong social justice values. All deserve a fair go, not just some. My guiding principles are best encapsulated in KISs, keep it simple, think then act. I believe I can bring a fresh outlook to our successful council and will visit and listen to our many community service groups making sure all voices are heard, and every perspective is valued.
