

Additional Information

I am a Mandurah shop front-business business owner, The Teaching HuB, and former career secondary/primary teacher and 12-year resident. I first visited Mandurah in 1991 and was blown away by the relaxed holiday feel. My how we have grown! Yet, Mandurah still possesses a village heart as it transforms into a city for all. Our mix of natural beauty and urban development has created a unique home for its residents. I believe my life experience, a mix of family, teaching and business has provided me with a broad outlook and community minded spirit. I live and work locally and I am clear eyed about the role of local government: Provide for and maintain the amenity of residents first and last and use finances wisely. As a proud son, brother, husband, father of four and grandfather to four (so far) I am conscious of the needs of different age and social groups who reside in a range of housing types with all levels of advantage. I am aware of inequality in our community and hold strong social justice values. All deserve a fair go. My principles are best outlined by KISs, Keep it Simple, think then act. I believe I can bring a fresh outlook to a successful council and promise to work in the best interests of all while visiting and listening to our many Mandurah community and service groups, making sure all voices are heard, and every perspective is valued.
